Underfloor heating will be installed throughout the house along with air conditioning in all rooms.

Ceramics will be of extremely high quality combined with real stone for outdoor paving and the sun deck around the pool.

It is also possible to agree on the choice of finishing materials and details on the final decoration of the interior and exterior of this interesting house.

The materials and quality of construction are recognizable for a valued investor, and the house is a real opportunity on the market.

The expected completion of all works is expected by the end of the year, and the houses can already be viewed and reserved.

The quiet location and proximity to all facilities, the center of Poreč and beautiful beaches make this house an exceptional opportunity on the market.
